How to Navigate the UC Davis East Asian Studies Department Website:

Step by Step Guide

- Using your browser of choice, search “UC Davis East Asian Studies” (https://eastasian.ucdavis.edu/)
- The second page to come up will be “East Asian Studies - UC Davis” as shown below (Figure 1)
- On the UCD East Asian Studies page, you’ll find the row icon which will present you w/a dropdown menu of different pages from “Undergraduate” to “Courses” (Figure 2)
  - Under “Courses” you may find course listings and topics (Figure 5)
  - Under the “People” tab, you’ll find faculty contact information and topics of research

- By hovering your mouse over “Undergraduate” you will find another dropdown menu containing links to many popular and useful resources for students (Figure 3)
- Two of the most common of these links are “Major in East Asian Studies” and “Advising”
  - In the “Major in East Asian Studies” tab, you can find major/minor requirements and possible career paths for the major (Figure 4)
- In the “Advising” tab, you’ll find resources for the Study Abroad program, mandatory advising, as well as advising forms.

Figure 3

Figure 4

By hovering over courses (Figure 2), you may find detailed description of courses offered and feature courses for the upcoming term (Figure 5).